Young Artists Share Accomplishments at Art Show

On February 27, 2010, ten young art students and one proud teacher shared their art accomplishments at a reception at the Artists' Co-Op Gallery in Lincoln City. After enjoying refreshments prepared in their honor, the artists and their parents browsed the display of animal pictures in the Gallery and in the adjoining Artists' Studio Association (ASA) classroom.

Teacher, Katia Kyte, a member of both ASA and the Co-Op, taught the five week class, "Learning to Paint Animals", as an inaugural endeavor for ASA. It's success has prompted a follow-up class called "Art for Kids" for ages 7-10 which begins on April 3. An additional class for ages 12 and older, called "Art for Teens", begins on April 7. For information contact Kyte at 503-580-1773 or email her at kyteart@yahoo.com.
